

Bob Wiltfong is a seasoned communications professional with a remarkable career spanning over 30 years in the media and journalism industry. With a diverse range of achievements and accolades, Bob has established himself as a highly respected figure across multiple disciplines.

Beginning his journey as a TV news reporter and anchor, Bob's exceptional storytelling skills and dedication to his craft garnered him several Emmy awards for his work. Building on his success, Bob joined the renowned satirical news program The Daily Show with Jon Stewart, where he served as a correspondent and is still the only on-air talent in the show's history to have been a legitimate news reporter before appearing on the program. The show's exceptional ability to dissect and humorously analyze current events earned Bob and the staff a prestigious Peabody award while he was there.

In addition to his television career, Bob is an expert in public speaking, having taught presentation skills to business executives at major companies for over 20 years. Recently, Bob has become an accomplished author, with his book, "The BS Dictionary: Uncovering the Origins and True Meanings of Business Speak," becoming an Amazon best-seller. As a testament to Bob's expertise, he was invited to Vienna, Austria, in 2022 to do a TEDx Talk on business speak. That presentation has since been made a full TED Talk and has garnered around a million views since being posted on the TED website.

Bob currently works remotely as Director of Communications & Impact for Edelson PC in Chicago. Edelson is one of the nation's leading law firms concentrating on high-stakes plaintiff's work ranging from class and mass actions to public client investigations and prosecutions.

Bob was born and raised in Omaha, Nebraska, and currently lives outside Jacksonville, Florida, with his wife and three children. In his off time, he enjoys exercising (he completed the New York City Marathon in 2022), reading, and cheering on his favorite sports teams (Nebraska football, University of Kansas basketball, and the NBA's Denver Nuggets).